Before proceeding to adjudicate the application, it is pertinent to note that the two miscellaneous appeals are filed under Section 37(1)(b) of the Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996 (hereinafter referred to as the 'Indian Act'). The facts briefly are that an agreement dated 22.4.1993 was executed between the appellant and the respondent under which the respondent was to supply installed equipment for modernization and upgradation of the production facilities of the appellant at Korba in the State of Chhattisgarh. The agreement provided for settlement of disputes by arbitration. Certain disputes arose between the parties and were referred to arbitration. The arbitration was held in England and the arbitral tribunal made two awards dated 10.11.2002 and 12.11.2002 in England. The appellant, thereafter, filed applications under Section 34 of the Indian Act for setting aside the two awards dated 10.11.2002 and 12.11.2002 in the Court of learned District Judge, Bilaspur which were numbered as MJC Nos. 92 of 2003 and 14 of 2003 respectively. By order dated 20.7.2004, the learned District Judge, Bilaspur held that the applications filed by the appellant under Section 34 of the Indian Act for setting aside the two foreign awards are not tenable and, accordingly, dismissed the same. Aggrieved, the appellant has filed these appeals.

Mr. Vivek Tankha and Mr. S. N. Mukherjee, learned counsel appearing for the appellant in the two appeals submitted that in the impugned order dated 20.7.2004, the learned District Judge has held that the application filed by the appellant under Section 34 of the Indian Act was not maintainable, but the learned District Judge has not recorded any reason whatsoever for coming to the aforesaid conclusion. They argued that the learned District Judge should have decided the issues of fact and law raised by the parties in their respective pleadings, but no such exercise has been undertaken by the learned District Judge in the impugned order. They submitted that since the impugned order is without any reason, it is liable to be set aside. In support of their submission, they relied on the decision of the Supreme Court in Smt. Swaran Lata Ghosh vs. Harendra Kumar Banerjee, 2004 AIR SCW 102 and State of Punjab vs. Bhag Singh, 2004 Criminal LJ 916.

Learned counsel for the appellant next submitted that the learned District Judge has proceeded on the assumption that the provisions of Section 34 of the Indian Act are not applicable to a 'foreign award' and for this reason held that the applications filed by the appellant under Section 34 of the Indian Act to set aside the foreign awards were not maintainable. He submitted that this view taken by the learned District Judge is contrary to the decision of the Supreme Court in Bhatia International vs. Bulk Trading, in which it has been held that the Indian Act applied to the arbitration which are held in India between the Indian Nationals as well as to international commercial arbitrations whether held in India or out of India. He also cited the decision of the Gujarat High Court in Nirma Ltd. vs. GMBH, Germany, in which a Division Bench of the Gujarat High Court has taken a view that when the agreement between the parties was governed by the Indian law, then the application for setting aside the award made outside the country can also be filed in a Court in India under Section 34 of the Indian Act. He submitted that since the agreement between the parties was governed by the Indian law, the learned District Judge should have held that the applications for setting aside the awards could be filed under Section 34 of the Indian Act before the learned District Judge at Bilaspur.

Mr. Mukherjee, learned counsel appearing for the appellant further submitted that Article 22 of the agreement between the parties provided that the agreement will be governed by the prevailing law of India and, therefore, parties to the agreement have chosen the prevailing law of India as the law governing the rights of the parties. He submitted that since the substantive rights of the parties to the agreement are to be governed by the law prevailing in India, even though the arbitration has taken place and the awards have been made in England can be challenged in a Court in India by an application under Section 34 of the Indian Act. He submitted that in the case of Bhatia International vs. Bulk Trading (supra), the Supreme Court has laid down the test that if a Court has jurisdiction to entertain an application under Section 9 of the Indian Act, it would also have jurisdiction to entertain an application under Section 34 of the Indian Act to set aside an award made by the arbitrator. He argued that in the present case since the cause of action in connection with the subject matter of the jurisdiction arose within the jurisdiction of the District Judge at Bilaspur. The District Judge at Bilaspur had the jurisdiction to entertain the application under Section 9 of the Indian Act and accordingly also under Section 34 of the Indian Act to set aside the award. He submitted that Part-II of the Indian Act provides for enforcement of certain foreign awards and Section 48 therein stipulates the conditions for enforcement of the foreign awards. He submitted that it will be clear from Section 48(1)(e) of the Indian Act that a foreign award can be set aside or suspended by a competent authority of the country in which, or under the law of which, that award was made and hence a foreign award can be set aside or suspended not only by the competent authority of the country in which the award is made but also by a competent authority of the country under the law of which the award was made. He vehemently submitted that since it is the law of India which governs the agreement between the parties, the awards have been made under the law of India and the competent authority in India can under Section

48(1)(e) of the Indian Act also set aside or suspend the awards in the present case though the same have been made in England.

Accuracy Builder: Analysis from the passage dictated today.

1. "Before proceeding to adjudicate the application, it is pertinent to note..."

- Reason: Separates introductory phrase from main clause

2. "...Arbitration and Conciliation Act, 1996..."

- Reason: Sets off the year as additional information. Always put a comma just before the year as indicated above.

3. "The appellant, thereafter, filed applications..."

- Reason: Sets off transitional adverb "thereafter"

4. "...the learned District Judge, Bilaspur held that..."

- Reason: Separates title from location (appositive)

5. "Aggrieved, the appellant has filed these appeals."

- Reason: Separates participial phrase from main clause

6. "Mr. Vivek Tankha and Mr. S. N. Mukherjee, learned counsel appearing for the appellant..."

- Reason: Sets off appositive phrase

7. "...in their respective pleadings, but no such exercise has been undertaken..."

- Reason: Separates independent clauses joined by "but"

8. "...since the impugned order is without any reason, it is liable to be set aside."

- Reason: Separates dependent clause from independent clause

9. "...Smt. Swaran Lata Ghosh vs. Harendra Kumar Banerjee, 2004 AIR SCW 102..."

- Reason: Separates case name from citation details

10. "...Bhatia International vs. Bulk Trading, in which it has been held..."

- Reason: Separates case name from relative clause

11. "...since the agreement between the parties was governed by the Indian law, the learned District Judge should have held..."

- Reason: Separates dependent clause from independent clause

Legal/General Matter

1. Article vs. article: In legal writing, "Article" is capitalized when referring to a specific numbered section of Constitution (e.g., "Article 22 of the Constitution/Agreement"), while "article" remains lowercase when used as a common noun.

Examples:

- Capitalized: "under Article 356 of the Constitution, President's Rule can be imposed."
- Lowercase: "This is an article of clothing" or "I read an interesting article in the newspaper."

2. Governed: (verb) (past participle) to be controlled or regulated by rules or laws; शासित होना, नियंत्रित होना

3. Prevailing: (adjective) existing or most common at a particular time; प्रचलित, वर्तमान

4. Governing: (verb) (present participle) controlling or regulating according to rules or laws; शासन करना, नियंत्रित करना

5. Substantive: (adjective) relating to the essential or fundamental rights and duties; मूलभूत, सारभूत

6. supra: (adverb) (Latin term) mentioned or cited above in the text; उपर्युक्त, पूर्वोक्त

Accuracy Mantra: When this word comes in the middle of a dictation referring to citation/ruling referred above, it is written within bracket as (supra).

7. Laid down: (phrasal verb) (past tense) to establish or formulate a rule or principle; निर्धारित करना, स्थापित करना

8. Jurisdiction: (noun) the official power or authority to make legal decisions; अधिकार क्षेत्र, न्यायाधिकार

9. Entertain: (verb) to give consideration to or deal with (a legal application); विचार करना, सुनवाई करना

10. Cause of action: (noun phrase) the facts that give a person the right to seek judicial relief; वाद कारण, मुकदमे का आधार

11. Subject matter: (noun phrase) the main topic or issue being dealt with; विषय-वस्तु, मुद्दा

12. Set aside: (phrasal verb) to cancel or annul a legal decision or award; रद्द करना, निरस्त करना

13. Enforcement: (noun) the act of compelling observance of or compliance with a law or order; प्रवर्तन, लागू करना

14. Stipulates: (verb) (present tense, third person singular) to specify as a condition or requirement; शर्त लगाना, प्रावधान करना

- 15. Competent authority: (noun phrase) a body or person having legal authority and qualification to act; सक्षम प्राधिकारी, सक्षम अधिकारी
- 16. Suspended: (verb) (past participle) to temporarily halt or stop the operation of something; निलंबित करना, स्थगित करना
- 17. Vehemently: (adverb) in a forceful, passionate, or intense manner; जोरदार ढंग से, प्रबलता से
- 18. Governs: (verb) (present tense, third person singular) to control or regulate according to rules; शासन करता है, नियंत्रित करता है
- 19. Limited: (adjective/noun) restricted; or a type of company with limited liability; सीमित; लिमिटेड (कंपनी)
- 20. Reported: (verb) (past participle) published or officially recorded in law reports; प्रकाशित, रिपोर्ट किया गया
- 21. Expression: (noun) a particular phrase or term used in legal context; अभिव्यक्ति, शब्द-समूह
- 22. Subjected: (verb) (past participle) to cause to undergo or experience; अधीन किया गया, निर्भर किया गया
- 23. Maintainable: (adjective) capable of being sustained or supported in law; ग्रहणीय, स्वीकार्य

Accuracy Builder: Comma (Punctuation)

COMMA USAGE - SIMPLE EXPLANATION

1. Comma after a person's name when describing them

Example: "Mr. Mukherjee, learned counsel appearing for the appellant further submitted..."

Simple Rule: When you give extra information about a person right after their name, put commas around that information.

Easy Example:

- "My teacher, Mrs. Sharma, is very kind."
- "Rahul, my best friend, loves cricket."

2. Commas around connecting words like "therefore," "however," "moreover"

Example: "...of India and, therefore, parties to the agreement..."

Simple Rule: When you use words like "therefore," "however," "moreover" in the middle of a sentence, put commas before and after them.

Easy Example:

- "I studied hard and, therefore, I passed the exam."
 - "It was raining. I, however, still went to school."

3. Comma after a long beginning part of a sentence

Example: "Since the substantive rights are to be governed by the law prevailing in India, even though the arbitration has taken place..."

Simple Rule: If your sentence starts with a long phrase (especially with words like "since," "because," "although"), put a comma before starting the main part.

Easy Example:

- "Because it was raining heavily, we stayed at home."
- "After finishing my homework, I played video games."

4. Comma after introductory phrases

Example: "In the case of Bhatia International vs. Bulk Trading (supra), the Supreme Court has laid down..."

Simple Rule: When you start a sentence with phrases like "In the case of," "In support of," "According to," put a comma after them.

Easy Example:

- "In my opinion, pizza is the best food."
 - "According to the weather report, it will rain tomorrow."

5. Comma to separate two parts of a sentence

Example : "He submitted that in the present case, since the cause of action arose..."

Simple Rule: Use a comma to separate the introduction from the main information.

Easy Example:

- "In the morning, I always brush my teeth."
 - "During summer vacation, we went to Goa."

6. Commas around extra information in the middle

Example: "...in which, or under the law of which, that award was made..."

Simple Rule: When you add extra or alternative information in the middle of a sentence, put commas around it.

Easy Example:

- "My brother, or perhaps my sister, will come with me."
 - "The book, which I bought yesterday, is very interesting."

7. Comma before "though," "although," "but" (to show contrast)

Example (SHOULD BE): "...in the present case, though the same have been made in England."

Simple Rule: When you want to show opposite or contrasting ideas, use a comma before words like "though," "although," "but."

Easy Example:

- "I wanted to go out, but it was raining."
 - "She is young, though very intelligent."

8. Comma after "In support of," "In conclusion," etc.

Example: "In support of his submission, he relied on the decision..."

Simple Rule: After phrases that start with "In...", put a comma.

Easy Example:

- "In conclusion, we should protect the environment."
 - "In addition, I also play the guitar."

9. Comma before extra details about something

Example: "White Industries Australia Limited vs. Coal India Limited, reported in 2004..."

Simple Rule: When you add extra details that are not essential to understand the sentence, put a comma before them.

Easy Example:

- "My dog, a golden retriever, loves to play fetch."
 - "Delhi, the capital of India, is a big city."

10. Comma before the conclusion after a long opening

Example: "The contract was signed in India and was performed in India, there is no reason..."

Simple Rule: After a very long opening part with many details, put a comma before starting your conclusion.

Easy Example:

- "After I woke up, brushed my teeth, ate breakfast, and got dressed, I left for school."
- "Because he studied hard, attended all classes, and did his homework regularly, he got first rank."

REMEMBER THESE 5 MAIN COMMA RULES:

1. After introductions → "In the morning, I went to school."
2. Around extra information → "My friend, who lives nearby, came over."
3. Before contrasting words → "I tried hard, but I failed."
4. Around interrupting words → "I am, however, very happy."

5. After long beginnings → "Because it was my birthday, everyone came to my party."
