Sri A.K. Mishra submitted that the acquisition should be set aside as failure to serve the notice under Section 29 of the Parishad Act deprived the petitioners from filing objections to the acquisition of their plots. He also submitted that the acquisition had lapsed under Section 11-A of the Land Acquisition Act since the award was not made within a period of two years from the date of publication of the notification under Section 32(1) of the Parishad Act. It is his submission with reference to Section 55 of the Parishad Act that even though Section 11-A did not exist in the Land Acquisition Act when the Parishad Act was enacted in the year 1965, but still in order to remove hostile discrimination faced by the tenure holders whose land is acquired under the provisions of the Parishad Act vis-a-vis the tenure holders whose land is acquired under the provisions of the Land Acquisition Act, the provisions contained in Section 11-A of the Land Acquisition Act will be applicable to the acquisitions made under the Parishad Act and in support of this contention he has placed reliance upon the decisions of the Supreme Court in Girnar Traders v. State of Maharashtra and others with S.P. Building Corporation and others v. State of U.P., reported in (2007) 7 SCC 555 and Nagpur Improvement Trust and another v. Vithal Rao and others, reported in AIR 1973 SC 689. Sri Mishra, in the alternative, contended that even in the absence of any time limit prescribed in the Parishad

Act for making the award, the Special Land Acquisition Officer has to make the award within a reasonable time and that having not been done the acquisition should be quashed. According to him the inordinate delay on the part of the respondents in making the award has caused great prejudice to the petitioners as the market value of the land stands pegged to the date of the notice under Section 28(1) of the Parishad Act which notice was issued way back in 1984. In support of this contention he has placed reliance upon the decision of the Supreme Court in Ram Chand v. Union of India, reported in (1994) 1 SCC 44. Sri Mishra also submitted that the Board is compelling petitioners to make an agreement with it for payment of the amount of.

Learned counsel further argued that the prolonged pendency of the acquisition proceedings has defeated the very object of acquisition and has caused undue hardship to the petitioners, who have been deprived of the use and enjoyment of their land for decades without receiving just compensation. According to him, the respondents cannot be permitted to take advantage of their own delay and inaction. It was also urged that the acquisition proceedings suffer from arbitrariness and violate Article 14 of the Constitution of India.

On the other hand, learned counsel appearing for the respondent-Board refuted the submissions advanced on behalf of the petitioners and contended that the acquisition proceedings were conducted strictly in accordance with law. It was submitted that no prejudice has been caused to the petitioners and that the delay, if any, was occasioned due to administrative reasons beyond the control of the authorities. The Standing Counsel for the State supported the submissions made by the respondent-Board and prayed for dismissal of the writ petitions.

Sri vs. Shri: Which is correct form?

other departments requiring "English Stenographer/

Both "Sri" and "Shri" are correct transliterations of the Sanskrit/Hindi honorific श्री. However, for accurate transcription in English Shorthand and legal documentation:

Recommended Usage:

- "Sri" is the more widely accepted and standardized form in Indian legal, judicial, and official documents
- "Shri" is also correct but less commonly used in formal legal contexts
- The Supreme Court of India and High Courts predominantly use "Sri"

Key Point for Accurate Transcription:

Use only one spelling/form consistently throughout the dictated passage—either "Sri" or "Shri". Do not mix both forms.

ACCURACY MANTRA: Don't confuse with words:
Lapsed vs. Elapsed

LAPSED:

Part of Speech: Verb (past tense/past participle of "lapse")

Meaning: To become invalid, void, or expired due to passage of time or non-fulfillment of conditions

Hindi: व्यपगत होना, समाप्त होना, अमान्य होना

Legal Context Usage: "The acquisition had lapsed under Section 11-A" (meaning it became legally invalid/expired)

Example: The license lapsed because the renewal fee was not paid.

ELAPSED:

Part of Speech: Verb (past tense/past participle of "elapse")

Meaning: (Of time) to pass or go by

Hindi: बीत जाना, गुजर जाना (समय का)

Usage: "Two years had elapsed since the notification was issued" (meaning time had passed)

Example: Three months elapsed before the award was made.

Critical Difference for Accurate Transcription:

- LAPSED = Something expired/became invalid (legal consequence)
- ELAPSED = Time simply passed (neutral time reference)

Memory Tip: Lapsed = Lost validity | Elapsed = End of time period
